LDM® TRIPLE

THE FUTURE OF AESTHETICS IS REGENERATIVE

Regeneration over aggressive correction.

Modern patients are no longer seeking aggressive correction alone.

They are seeking healthier skin function, long-term skin quality and regenerative treatment pathways with minimal downtime.

LDM® Triple represents a new category of aesthetic technology focused on cellular stimulation, skin longevity and intelligent treatment integration.

LDM TRIPLE — REGENERATIVE AESTHETICS

WHY LDM® TRIPLE IS DIFFERENT

A regenerative approach to aesthetic medicine focused on cellular stimulation, intelligent treatment integration and long-term skin health.

Traditional Energy Based Devices	LDM® Triple
Heat or injury-based stimulation	Mechanical cellular stimulation
Potential downtime	No downtime
Treatment discomfort	Comfortable treatments
Treatment fatigue	Repeatable protocols
Aggressive correction focus	Regenerative skin health
Limited treatment frequency	Suitable for ongoing maintenance
Often indication-specific	Multi-indication platform
Inflammatory pathways	Cellular optimisation

LDM® TRIPLE

THE SCIENCE OF REGENERATION

The future of aesthetic medicine is not based on aggressive stimulation alone.

LDM® Triple combines dynamic ultrasound frequency modulation with intelligent tissue response technology designed to support hydration, regeneration and long-term skin quality.

Using rapidly alternating frequencies including 1, 3, 10 and 19 MHz, treatments are designed to influence cellular environments, optimise extracellular communication and support healthier tissue function over time.

01

Dynamic Frequency Modulation

Rapidly alternating ultrasound frequencies designed to create intelligent tissue stimulation.

02

Cellular Hydration Optimisation

Supports skin hydration pathways and healthy tissue function.

03

Cav-1 Regulation

Technology designed around regenerative skin signalling and long-term skin quality.

04

ECM Support

Supports extracellular matrix optimisation and tissue communication.

SUPPORTS LONG-TERM SKIN HEALTH

HOW THE TECHNOLOGY WORKS

LDM® Triple uses rapidly alternating ultrasound frequencies to create dynamic mechanical stimulation across multiple tissue depths. Through Triple-LDM® combinations, including 1/3/10 MHz and 3/10/19 MHz, the technology creates changing pressure distributions within the tissue, supporting differentiated physiological effects across skin layers.

19MHz

Epidermal Hydration & Barrier Support

Ultra-superficial frequency designed to work within the upper skin layers, supporting epidermal hydration, barrier function and surface skin quality.

10MHz

Superficial Dermal Activation

Targets superficial skin layers, supporting microcirculation, skin renewal pathways and visible improvement in skin quality.

3MHz

Mid-Dermal Matrix Support

Supports dermal tissue interaction, extracellular matrix communication and regenerative skin function.

1MHz

Deep Tissue Stimulation

Provides deeper ultrasound interaction for structural tissue support and broader mechanical stimulation.

Caveolin-1 (CAV-1)

Caveolin-1 is involved in cellular signalling, inflammatory regulation and skin ageing pathways. LDM® Triple is positioned to help regulate Cav-1 activity, supporting healthier regenerative communication within the skin environment.

INTEGRATED TREATMENTS

LDM® Triple is designed to support skin preparation, regenerative optimisation and post-procedure recovery across a wide range of aesthetic treatments.

SONOPHORESIS & REGENERATIVE RECOVERY SUPPORT

LDM® Triple may support transdermal penetration and distribution of selected topical preparations through advanced ultrasound-assisted sonophoresis protocols.

Designed to optimise the skin environment before and after treatment, LDM® Triple is frequently integrated throughout the patient journey to support enhanced treatment outcomes, regenerative recovery and improved skin quality.

Clinicians increasingly incorporate LDM® Triple across their treatment menu alongside:

- exosomes
- PRP protocols
- injectable procedures
- resurfacing treatments
- regenerative skincare
- energy-based devices

SKIN PREPARATION & TISSUE OPTIMISATION

LDM® Triple supports hydration, barrier optimisation and regenerative tissue conditioning prior to advanced aesthetic procedures, helping create a more balanced skin environment before treatment.

Its rapidly alternating ultrasound frequencies support extracellular matrix optimisation, tissue flexibility and healthier regenerative communication.

Clinicians may integrate LDM® Triple prior to:

- injectables
- RF microneedling
- resurfacing procedures
- energy-based treatments

SUPPORT BEYOND INSTALLATION

LDM® Triple is supported by ongoing clinical education, treatment integration guidance and marketing support designed to help clinics confidently position regenerative aesthetics within modern patient pathways.

CLINICAL TRAINING & EDUCATION

Comprehensive onboarding and ongoing practitioner education support clinics in confidently integrating LDM® Triple across a wide range of aesthetic indications and treatment protocols.

Support includes:

- treatment protocols
- indication guidance
- regenerative treatment integration
- practitioner education
- ongoing clinical support

MARKETING & LAUNCH SUPPORT

Clinics receive access to launch and marketing support designed to help build awareness, generate enquiries and support long-term patient growth.

Support may include:

- launch campaign guidance
- Google & Meta advertising support
- social media assets
- lead generation systems
- WhatsApp enquiry pathways
- patient nurturing workflows

TREATMENT MENU SUPPORT

LDM® Triple is designed to integrate seamlessly across the modern aesthetic treatment menu, supporting clinics in positioning regenerative aesthetics throughout the patient journey.

Support includes:

- consultation guidance
- treatment menu integration
- pricing structure support
- patient communication strategies
- regenerative treatment planning

LONG-TERM CLINIC GROWTH

LDM® Triple supports repeatable treatment pathways, regenerative maintenance programmes and integration across multiple indications, helping clinics build long-term patient relationships and sustainable treatment growth.

With no consumables and low ongoing operational costs, LDM® Triple is designed to support both clinical versatility and long-term clinic scalability.
